$170 Million Spent on Collector Cars... The love affair is still hot as car collectors spent over $170 million in January 2009 on collector cars at ten public collector car auctions. This all goes against the grain when you listen to the news about the US economy but at least owning a collector car rewards the owner with something tangible that other investments lack. The media pundit's "doom and gloom" forecast was overshadowed by the car collector's passion and enthusiasm which shows our hobby's resiliency and in many cases an opportunity, where as, one may have the chance to buy a rare car today that may not ever present itself to the market again, at least not in the short term.

note: The beautiful weather in Arizona and Florida may have had something to do with the excellent results previously described.

Collector Corvettes: What Differentiates the Collector Car... from toy, driver, or used car? In the current issue of Classic Cars, the people at Bloomington Gold tackle this question and in the process has delivered the quintessential handbook for evaluating your needs and want when buying a classic Corvette. It gives you questions to ask and the answer you should expect. Not sure what you're looking for? This article wades into those hostile waters too. The Chase... Visit ProTeam soon where you'll be greeted not only by friendly sales assistants but tidal waves of color and high performance. Come Look • Come Shop • Come Inspect • Come Test Drive • Come Visit • Come Tour • Come See What You're Missing!! This is not a typical museum "static" display but a "dynamic" ever-changing inventory of the best classic Corvettes in the world. THE CHASE is the fun part of buying classic cars and interacting with the owners, as each car and owner has a personality of its own and no two cars or their owners will be exactly the same. It is with this in mind that I urge you to personally visit ProTeam and inspect that Corvette of your dreams with your own eyes and participate physically in "The Chase". You won't be disappointed and that I promise you!!! Ask your sales assistant how ProTeam might participate financially in paying your flight costs to travel to Detroit, Toledo, or the Ft. Wayne airports.
