Buying a classic car can be a scary process, especially sight unseen. ProTeam believes that seeing, driving, and getting a feel for the Corvette is essential. ProTeam also realizes that Napoleon is not on the way to anywhere for most people and that a 48 hour inspection at home can make the American Corvette dream within easy reach.

There are no prerequisites to qualify for this program except that project cars and cars rated #4, #5, or #6 do not qualify. Contact one of ProTeam's sales associates to guide you through the process and then wait for delivery, take the Corvette for a spin around town, and decide if it's the one. If not, send the Corvette back for any reason to ProTeam for a money back guarantee.

Question: Who else offers such a program? As ProTeam has been doing this for almost 20 years

Answer: no one

WARNING: Infrequently used, long stored and newly restored automobiles frequently develop failures and problems during break-in for re-use. Expect these failures! The best running and most reliable automobiles are those used on a regular basis. Some problems may be but are not limited to: a) old gas varnish, b) hydro-lock, especially fuelies, c) brake pull, especially pre-1965 drum brake cars with wheel cylinders, d) minor oil leaks, especially the rear main seal.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR: If you sit too much, it's bad for you. The same is true for old cars. Joints stiffen up, moisture takes its various tolls, rubber and leather dry out, tires get flat spotted, gasoline goes stale and vermin takes up residence. No matter how beautiful, rare and/or valuable, old cars need to get out and drive or they'll slowly die of neglect.
